International Studies Journal

United Nations Information Centre

International Conference on Simulation of Dialogue among Civilizations

International Studies Journal (ISJ) and United Nations Information Centre (UNIC) will hold an International Simulation Conference on Dialogue among Civilizations on the occasion of World Day of Cultural Diversity for Dialogue and Development on Tuesday 10th of May 2016 in Tehran, Iran

Conference Topics

In this simulation program they will run an international UN Conference. In this conference the delegates of states will present their position paper on Extremism via Dialogue among Civilizations. They will talk on the role of extremism on Peace, and international Security. So they will discuss on writing a final act on Dialogue among Civilizations: Extremism and International Security

Terms and conditions of participation

1. An accredited degree in law, international relations or a relevant field of study;
2. Good command of English or French;
3. Your recent photograph;
4. Letter of application including address, telephone, email and language skills(English, French);
5. CV/Resume;
6. Payment of 200 Euros. This fee covers registration, booklet, ISJ quarterly magazines and lunch.
7. ISJ will run an small Cultural Heritage visit of Isfahan for interested participants. This one night and 2 days visits include accommodation, museums visits; Cultural sites visits, interpreters, transportations from Tehran to Isfahan and Tehran, and meals. The fee for the participants is very modest: 500 Euros.

Application & Contacts

Please send applications by mail to:
internationalstudiesjournal@yahoo.com and info@isjq.net

Visas

The ISJ will facilitate obtaining the entry visa.

Registration Deadline: 10 April 2016

www.isjq.net